Teuton Drive Continues in the East Following the Fall of Warsaw and Retreat of Russians

GRAND DUKE STILL KEEPING HIS FORCES OUT OF NET

Much Speculation as to Ultimate Aim of the German Operators Along Eastern Front

Vienna, August 6.—The occupation of Ivanogorod yesterday by Austro-German forces is announced in an official telegram from the front.

The evacuation of Ivanogorod apparently was admitted last night by Petrograd in an official statement, which said:

"In the Ivanogorod district the Russians have crossed to the right bank of the Vistula, blowing up the bridges behind them."

A statement issued later in the night explained that the Ivanogorod fortifications were not properly constructed for modern warfare. This statement was made "in reply to the Austrian claim that the great victory was achieved in Ivanogorod's capture."

It further stated that all the provisions in the city were "methodically" removed, after which the Russian rear-guard blew up the concrete bases supporting the bridge elements of the forts, destroyed the bridges and crossed the river.

Ivanogorod is located at the confluence of the Vistula and the Wispyr rivers. It is situated on the railroad running to Lakow and Prest-Litovsk, and also on a line connecting with Warsaw.

RIGA SURE TO FALL.

London, August 6.—Discussing the situation around Riga, the sixth city of the Russian empire, the Petrograd correspondent of the Morning Post says:

"Russian military forces seem merely to be observing the German advance and falling back before it. The Germans are now 15 miles farther east than yesterday. Their aeroplanes have dropped numerous bombs on Riga and the main body of German troops has succeeded in getting beyond the difficult swampland which was the city's chief natural defence. They are now in a good forest country through which they are being guided by local German-Riga population is 50 per cent. German."

14,000,000 Casualties to June 1

New York, August 5.—A Paris cable to the Tribune this morning says:

"The losses of the European countries in the war up to May 31, as compiled by the French war ministry, are:

Nations	Killed	Wounded	Prisoners	Total
France	400,000	650,000	180,000	1,230,000
Belgium	181,000	290,000	90,000	561,000
England	49,000	49,000	15,000	113,000
Russia	1,250,000	1,050,000	850,000	3,150,000
Germany	1,630,000	1,850,000	490,000	4,000,000
Austria	1,955,000	910,000	4,355,000	7,220,000
Turkey	110,000	144,000	95,000	349,000
Totals	5,290,000	6,487,000	2,630,000	14,398,000

"This table was prepared for publication for early in June, but was withheld because the French authorities feared the enormity of the figures might have had a bad effect on the people."

Fall of Warsaw Puts the Issue Up to Britain

THIS, IN THE OPINION OF THE DAILY GRAPHIC IS WHAT IT MEANS

London, August 6.—All the London morning papers today deal editorially at great length with the fall of Warsaw.

The Daily Telegraph says: "The military and strategic consequences, however, is very different from the political. When Emperor William adds up the net gains and losses he will discover that at much cost of blood and treasure he has only enabled the Russians to fall back to lines more easily defended and to that illimitable space of territory which always has baffled conquerors from the west."

The Daily Graphic says: "The loss of Warsaw and the great fighting are an undoubted blow to Russia and her Allies. From the military point of view it proves that the Germans are, in comparison to the Russians, stronger than they ever have been during the past twelve months. It would be foolish for us to minimize the importance of the victory."

Warsaw is not a second Soudan, nevertheless the military power of Russia must remain impaired for some time to come. That means a greater strain on the western powers. France for a long time has been putting forth practically her full strength, so that whatever more has to be done must be done by us."

Fate of America

Being Decided

London Daily News: This war is, ultimately, a war for the government of the world. If Germany wins, the Kaiser's dream of a universal throne will be accomplished, for every nation, and the United States among the rest, will live under the sanction of the Prussian sword. The Monroe doctrine itself is, by a strange irony, at stake. It is the question of the converse of the non-interference policy in European affairs—to preserve the Americans from attack. But the victory of Germany would make the Monroe doctrine waste paper. The South American republics would fall to the Kaiser and the United States would no longer be the unchallenged guardian of the peace of the Americas, but would have to face the menace of a German South America. In a word, the fate of the Republic itself is in the balance as truly as, though less directly than, the fate of Europe.

The Shell Question

To the Editor of The News.

We are interested in the leader on the shell question in your issue of two weeks ago, and should like the opportunity of placing before the public the facts as they appear to us, after having spent a considerable amount of time and money in the effort to secure a share of the orders that were supposed and expected to come west.

We feel that the whole business is being handled in the interests of a few rather than for the good and benefit of the Dominion and the Empire for at least three special reasons.

In the first place there are many small machine shops that are in an absolute necessity to the district in which they are located, run by trained and competent mechanics that might have usefully filled in their time during the present abnormal slackness of business by the machining of shells or parts thereof, in this district we can mention Messrs. Stetler and Rocky Mountain House in addition to ourselves and in other parts of Alberta there are other small machine shops that could have done some part of the work quite as well as it is being done in the East.

Unfortunately the Government and those who have the placing of orders in their hands appear to place finance as the first requirement, whereas we contend experience and ability to do the work should be the only essential consideration, and if the Banks consider they are not justified in taking the risk of financing the work, the Government should come to the assistance of the machinists, their security being their finished product.

Unfortunately we cannot afford to lose the trade we have built up during the past years by leaving our plants to go either East or to England, and if our services are really needed the work should come to us here.

Secondly—The whole business seems to be hogged by those with a pull. The whole of the existing shops in Calgary, who have been established for many years, have helped to build up the city and district, and who in normal times are a valuable asset to the community, had an order for 5,000 shells allotted between them, whereas a practical stranger from the States who had only an empty building, and who had done none of these things obtained an order for 20,000 shells, thus ensuring him a sufficient income from this order to purchase machinery and start in competition with the old established plants when business is normal with a shop full of new machinery and the first cost.

We contend this is distinctly unfair especially as the Government, emphatically discouraged the purchase of machinery to obtain their orders.

Thirdly—The need for munitions must be great as Brig.-Gen. Bertram is at the head of the munitions Committee of Canada, stated publicly on June 10th that orders have been placed in Canada for 2,000,000 shells for Great Britain alone, and so far 650,000 have been produced, and this since September of last year.

We feel the more keenly on this subject as one member of our firm was among the first to offer himself for active service at the front, and has been off the trenches in France since February last, and every shell turned out is one more chance for him to return to us safe and sound.

I am, yours truly,
J. W. BROUGHTON.

Huns Expect Nothing From Roumania Now

Count Reventlow Cubs Her Attitude at Present as "Malevolent"

Berlin, August 4.—A warning that nothing can be expected from Roumania is conveyed to the readers of the Tages Zeitung, in an editorial this morning, by Count Ernest Reventlow. His article summarizes the situation in the following paragraph:

"Those friendly relations with Roumania made sacred by tradition, and, on the German side, by firm confidence—can hardly longer be considered as existing."

HOLDS UP TURK SUPPLIES.

Count Reventlow points out Roumania's refusal to permit exports of grain or to permit ammunition for the Turks to pass through its territory, although Russia was permitted to transit munitions to Serbia. He says it has been hoped Roumania would fulfil its treaty obligations or preserve at least an upright and well-wishing neutrality.

But, Roumania has become "malevolent," he asserts, with a tendency to enter the conflict on the side of Germany's enemies.

"The importance of Roumania's aid to Germany and Turkey has been greatly lessened, however," Count Reventlow asserts. "Before Roumania's fall, Roumania would have been a military factor in co-operation with the Muscovites, but that time is past and her military and political value as an opponent of Germany is vanishing."

The period when Roumania could be considered a leading factor in the development of the Balkan situation has gone by, the article declares.

The People in Red Deer Want to Spend Money

MONEY is for use, not for hoarding. Most of us want what money will buy more than money, so we are always spending our money. Also, most of us do not make enough money to keep or hoard it—we must spend it on necessities.

More money would be spent in Red Deer if more of our merchants would advertise, and if those who do advertise would advertise a little more.

To the People in and About Red Deer

Spend your money in Red Deer. Spending money out of this community makes the community poorer for you and everybody else. Building up outside business won't help you any.

Accident to a Farmer

(Ponoka Herald)

Thursday afternoon a serious accident befell Martin Haley, a farmer in the Iowa district. He came to town in order to take out a load of furniture for a party who had taken up land in his vicinity, and when on the way out—some six miles west of town, came to grief. While sitting on the dashboard of his wagon, a wheel struck a rock, and he fell in front of a wheel, which passed over his body. Medical aid was summoned, when it was found that he was injured internally, and was taken to Red Deer hospital. Latest reports are that Mr. Haley is doing as well as can be expected.

Big Flood in Erie, Pa. HUGE WALL OF WATER SWEEPS CITY WHEN NEARBY DAM BURSTS

Erie, Pa., August 4.—With the coming of daylight, Erie turned to the task of recovering bodies of victims of last night's cloudburst and flood, and at 9 o'clock 14 had been placed in the temporary morgue. The flood, caused by the overflow of Mill creek, following the bursting of Glenwood dam, swept through a section of the city a block in width and a mile long, killed at least 25 persons and causing property loss estimated at $3,000,000.

THE IDENTIFIED DEAD.
The identified dead are:
Erasmus Osborn, 44 years old, of Paradise Street.

John Donovan, city fireman.
Sweeney Anderson, 60 years old, of East Ninth street.

John Higgins, 40 years old, a printer.

James Higgins, 17 years old, son of John Higgins.

Mrs. John Higgins and infant.

Mrs. Cora Anderson Main, 28 years old, East Seventeenth street.

The police and fire forces worked throughout the night on the ruins, recovering 14 bodies from an area that included approximately one-half of the devastated district, which extends from Twenty-sixth street and French streets, in the uptown business section, to Tenth and State streets, a distance of about a mile.

The release of the water held back by the dam sent a huge wave five feet high to the city, and by the time it reached the first buildings on Twenty-sixth street it was crested with a mass of debris that acted like a huge battering ram on everything in its path.

HUGE WALL OF WATER.

After almost an all day rain a heavy thundershower culminated in the cloudburst. For an hour residents along the course of Mill creek watched the slow rise of the stream, due to a rainfall of nearly three inches in six hours. At 8:45 the Glenwood dam, three miles above the city, burst, and a huge wall of water swept down through the city, carrying with it the homes of those who had waited until the last minute to leave. In several cases the families still refused to seek safety.

PUBLIC SERVICES PARALYZED.

Early today gas mains all over the city were cut off, and telephone, street car and electric lighting services were paralyzed.

The charitable societies, the army, hotels and hastily-organized shelter clubs gave refuge to hundreds who saved but their own lives and a few meagre belongings.

The darkness, the danger of broken electric wire, and the 25-mile current of the flood made the work of rescue extremely perilous. The life-saving crews of Lake Erie shore front and the members of the naval militia started the search for bodies.

RAILWAYS WASHED OUT.

The washing out of the main line of the New York Central and the Pennsylvania stalled a dozen or more passenger trains here, with no prospects of their departure for a couple of days.

One crowded train bound for New York was brought to a stand on the viaduct 40 feet over the path of Mill creek, and those on board for hours watched houses and household goods swept down the torrent.

Throughout the night the torrent of rain continued, with only brief intervals. Only the white mouth of the creek at the lake shore prevented a much more serious devastation. Piles of debris on the streets, threatening the path of the flood were heaped up 15 feet high in some cases. A dozen of the large plants in the city will be closed down for 10 days or two weeks, until the machinery in the first floors can be cleared away.

HEROIC RESCUES.

Early today, as details of the disaster began to collect, the story of Fiercen Sherry and Bates stood out among the scores of heroic acts. Taking a girl from her home on the creek bank they started down the telephone pole which enabled them to reach her, when the house fell

Mayor Stern has asked for a company of the 16th Regiment of the Pennsylvania Guard to patrol flooded districts.

Crack Austrian Unit Wiped Out

Italians Completely Annihilate
Francis Joseph's Tyrolean
Chasseurs

Turin, August 4.—The crack regiment of Kaiser Jaegers, or the Emperor's own Tyrolean Chasseurs, whom Emperor Francis Joseph passed in review at Schoenbrunn, July 15, immediately before their departure for the Austrian front on the Isonzo, were almost completely wiped out early on the morning of August 1, on the Corso plateau.

Throughout the previous night the enemy had indulged in demonstrative actions along that sector, in the hope of hoodwinking the Italians as to the precise point where an offensive attack was to be made.

Then, at dawn, huge forces were hurled against the Italian right wing in a determined effort to recapture Mount Salsus, which dominates the plain.

The flower of the imperial army, faced the fury of the guns with magnificent building courage, but they were moved down almost to the last man. Thereupon, the Italians went forward in one of their impetuous dashes, charging the foe simultaneously on the front, and flank, and causing them to flee in the wildest disorder. Six officers and 144 other prisoners were taken.

Teutonic Forces Exhausted From Long Operations

GERMANS IN POLAND RUNNING SHORT OF AMMUNITION, IS RUMOR

Offensive Costs 10,000 Men a Day

Petrograd, August 5.—While the Russian war office admits gains for the Austro-German forces in Courland and southern Poland, the situation in the Sector of Warsaw is unchanged. The sledge hammer blows which Field Marshal Von Mackensen and General Von Buelow have been making have cost the German-Austro forces enormously, their losses being estimated at 10,000 men a day during the recent bloody fighting.

Dispatches indicate that the Grand Duke Nicholas has withdrawn the major portion of his army from Warsaw in order to meet the wings of the Austro-German forces, and so, if Warsaw should fall in the immediate future, the Teutonic general staff will have failed in its main object of capturing the grand army of Russia.

It is officially stated that the Russian forces defending Riga, on the Baltic, have withdrawn across the Ekau river. Ekau river is only nineteen miles southwest of Riga, and the army of General Von Below is now fighting to force a passage.

There are four zones of hard fighting: (1) southwest of Riga; (2) on the Narva front; (3) around Ivanogorod; (4) north of Cholm. The Russian general staff states that the Austro-German troops of General Von Woytsch have crossed the Vistula in the vicinity of Ivanogorod, driving the Russians from the forests in that stretch eastward from the river.

It also announces that the most desperate fighting is continuing east of Poniewiez, thirty-five miles southeast of Shavli, on the Luvana river. Poniewiez is an important railway centre and lines from Shavli, Vilna, Dvinsk and Kovno pass through there. The fighting in that vicinity is part of the general campaign of the Germans in the Baltic provinces to cut the Warsaw-Petrograd communications.

To the minds of many military men the operations in Courland are the most menacing of all to the Russians, as a big victory for Von Buelow in that region would enable the German cavalry to sweep across the railway lines that feed the Russian armies in Poland.

There are indications, however, that the Germans are running short of ammunition and that the Teutonic forces are becoming exhausted from their long offensive operations.

FALL BACK WITH LOSS

OF 20,000 MEN.

Geneva, August 5.—The heaviest fighting in the eastern theatre of the war is now taking place on the Komorow-Mazowieck line, northeast of Warsaw, according to a dispatch from Innsbruck. Test divisions of German troops, 200,000 men, are making a determined effort to reach the Bug river, but have been compelled to fall back to the Orzy river with the loss of 20,000 men.

Chesterwold Farmer Killed

(Ponoka Herald)

A shocking accident happened five miles south of Wetaskiwin on Sunday morning, when Albert Schneider, a prosperous farmer of Chesterwold district, was run over by a passenger train and mutilated beyond recognition. No inquest will be held, as it was evidently an accident. The body is being shipped to the old home in Nebraska. Mr. Schneider was held in the highest esteem by the people of Chesterwold, and his sad death has cast a gloom over the district.

Evacuation of Warsaw is Being Carried Out in Orderly Fashion

Official Orders Direct Removal of Seats of Learning and Discontinuance of the Courts of Justice.

Warsaw, July 22, by mail to Petrograd and London, August 4.—The hurried measures adopted for the evacuation of this city are shown in a number of official orders, which have appeared. These direct the removal of the University of Warsaw to Moscow and the discontinuance of the administration of justice before the high courts after July 24. Another states that all horses, automobiles and other means of transportation not moved to the right bank of the Vistula before July 18 will be subject to the requisition of the government thereafter.

The order for the removal of the university directs the faculty to leave today and says that if it is found impossible for them to return, the courses will be conducted at Moscow university, a famous educational institution.

LAW COURTS SUSPENDED.

The edict discontinuing the law courts states that no new cases will be accepted, that pending cases will be discontinued and that sentences will be suspended.

A guardian is appointed for the law buildings pending this suspension which lasts "until further notice."

An order from the governor general suspended three Jewish newspapers, but the editors have announced that funds contributed by American Jewish organizations will permit the continued employment of the editorial staffs and provide three weeks' pay for the mechanical forces. A kitchen also has been established where employees may obtain dinner for twenty kopeks (13 cents).

ORGANIZE MALE CITIZENS.

Official plans have been published for the organization of the male civilian population between the ages of 18 and 50 years for military work such as transportation, the building of roads and the digging of trenches. These plans provide that each 1,000 shall be under the direction of a "head man" with a centurion for each 100. The "head man" and centurions will receive $1.32 a day, while each worker will receive fifty cents a day and his board. Olds

(Gazette).

A very sad accident occurred on the farm of Mrs. H. F. Peterson, on Saturday last, when her daughter Agnes, aged 14 years, was killed. She had been using a rake and the team started, or she fell off and frightened them. She was first seen entangled in the rake, and when picked up was found to be unconscious and did not recover. The funeral was conducted by Rev. Denson from the home on Tuesday, a great many people being present, the arrangements being in charge of W. C. Gooder. The burial took place in the Olds cemetery.

At two o'clock, on Thursday, fire at the J. H. Kemp home done some $200 damage to the kitchen, pantry, and to interior woodwork and house furnishings. The fire was confined to the kitchen and was soon under control.

W. J. Morris, of Garrington, met with a severe accident on Friday last, when he was kicked in the groin by a horse. He was improving at last reports.

Miss Mary Hall left on Tuesday, by way of Vancouver, for Los Angeles, Cal., where she expects to spend a year at Los Angeles Academy taking music and the languages. Miss Hall will make her home with her uncle, J. H. Giesinger. She has been a successful teacher and will be missed by her many young friends in Olds and district.

News By Windmill

In certain districts of Holland news of a domestic sort is frequently announced by the windmill. When, for instance, a miller gets married, he stops his mill with the arms of the wheel in an oblique position and with the sails unfurled. His friends and guests do likewise with their mills. In celebration of the ceremony.

To announce a birth, the wheel is stopped with the arms in a slanting position, but at a more acute angle than for a marriage and with the two upper sails unfurled.

In the event of the miller's death, his family cause the sails of his mill to be all furled, and the wheel is turned until the arms assume an upright position, in which position they are left until after the funeral has taken place.

Operated by two men, a machine invented by a Chicago hotel steward will wash and dry more than 18,000 dishes an hour.

Mechanism operated by a lever from the driver's seat has been invented for opening automobile doors.

(5 p.c.) of the amount thereof, payable to the order of the Town of Disbury, which amount will be forfeited if the party entering declines to enter into the contract or if the successful tenderer fails to complete his contract in accordance with the tender.

The Town Council of the Town of Disbury does not bind itself to accept the lowest or any tender.

The champion Lacombe athletes failed to put in an appearance at the local ballyard, Friday evening, evidently not having recovered from the effect of Tuesday's drubbing at the hands of the local crew, or else suffering from frigidity of the pedal extremities.
